

PARAGLIDING WORLD CUP

SECURITY IS ESSENTIAL.

Three new partnerships to enhance the security of the competition pilots.

Enedis et RTE are committed to strengthening their actions to inform the general public about the dangers of electricity around electrical works. The objectives pursued through this new partnership are many:

- Raise awareness of potential flying activities in the vicinity of overhead power structures ;
- Identifying areas potentially at risk during the briefing ;
- Cooperate during this paragliding competition to examine the possible risks of the proposed route and to raise awareness among pilots and visitors, in particular during the pilot briefing sunday the 21st of May at 9.30am. Meeting on the base of life placed on the "Ferme des Gabelins" in Chamousset (73).

Some cautionary tips to remember to practice the free flight safely.

The practice of paragliding, hang-gliding and kites, requires caution.

- Never head in the clouds : You are concerned by these safety measures !
- Check the winds : Risks move according to the winds.
- Observed the environment : and the flight context (including wind zones).

Check with the club that has all the necessary information. In any case, the right distance is caution !

ENEDIS & RTE will meet you on the dedicated website: www.electricite-prudence.fr

FIREFIGHTERS

As part of the safety and rescue to recover any pilots in difficulty, two speakers of the team of emergency relief in mountain (GMSP) of the « SDIS » will be present throughout the week of competition according to a protocol that we have put in place.

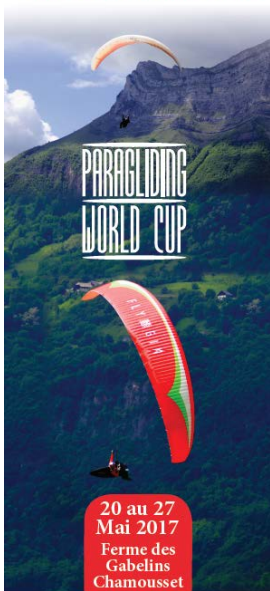

The take-off in paragliding during competitions is a phase of vigilance. The pilots are under pressure, and want the victory. The event director assures collective responsibility during the task. The pilots ensure their own safety and that of other pilots evolving around.
